

A Bed Every Night

Nobody should have to sleep rough in Greater Manchester.

A Bed Every Night provides a bed, warm welcome, and personal support for anyone sleeping on the streets of our city-region who cannot access other accommodation.

The scheme is part of an innovative and holistic approach to end the need for rough sleeping. It brings together a range of organisations, working in a joined-up way, including the Greater Manchester Combined Authority and the Mayor, 10 local authorities, Greater Manchester Health and Social Care Partnership, Greater Manchester Police and other Criminal Justice Agencies and the Homelessness Action Network, to make sure the individual needs of people who are homeless are being met. It's one of a number of options available to people experiencing or at risk of sleeping rough.

Over the last year, A Bed Every Night has improved and evolved into provision for everyone who need it, no matter what.

The people of Greater Manchester, along with our sports stars, high-profile musicians, businesses, charities, public sector, faith and community groups have all come together in a massive collective show of support.

So many people are keen to help us tackle homelessness and rough sleeping. This leaflet explains how to do that.

Want to help?

You can make a real difference. Below you can find different ways you can help.

Are you worried about someone you've seen on the street?

There are lots of different ways people on the streets can access help. Not everyone on the streets is homeless or sleeping rough, but they are all likely to be vulnerable. Each of Greater Manchester's 10 local authorities has a team which can help. If you are concerned about someone over the age of 18 that you have seen sleeping rough, you can report them to your local authority using the contact details below or you can get in touch with StreetLink who will contact the relevant local authority or outreach service for the area – streetlink.org.uk

How it works

You may have questions about homelessness, rough sleeping and A Bed Every Night - hopefully the answers below should help:

Do people have to pay to stay in A Bed Every Night accommodation?

No. It's completely free.

Is this just for people from Greater Manchester?

Yes it is and our aim is to have provision in place to ensure no-one has to sleep rough. However, we do know there are people from outside our city-region who also need help. We won't turn them away in an immediate emergency, but later will help them to reconnect with their local community.

Are A Bed Every Night provisions for anyone who's sleeping rough?

The A Bed Every Night scheme has provision for men, women, couples, and people with dogs. There is provision for those who have complex or multiple needs and may require a higher level of support. We are also able to accommodate destitute migrants. However, as accommodation needs are assessed by professionals, there may be other provision that is deemed more suitable for some people sleeping rough than A Bed Every Night.

What's the difference between homelessness and rough sleeping?

The term 'rough sleeping' is used when someone is sleeping outdoors, often on the streets, or inside, for example, in a derelict building or car park. Homelessness refers to anyone who is living without safe or settled accommodation, and includes the experience of rough sleeping.

Are people who are begging also rough sleeping?

Sometimes but not always. Some people who ask for money on the streets do have a home or accommodation. Others do not have a home to go to. If you are concerned about someone asking for money on the street you can contact the police.

GMP and partners take a stepped approach which always includes the offer of support, recognising that people are vulnerable but also that any criminal behaviour will be dealt with appropriately.

Should I give money or food to people who are begging or on the streets?

We want to help people get off the streets, and the best way to do this is to donate, volunteer or fundraise which will have long-lasting effects and provide ongoing support.

If you are concerned about someone asking for money on the street you can contact the police.
